CHAPTER 3: INTERNSHIP PART

Description of the Activities/Responsibilities in the Intern Organization during Internship, which shall include - details of working conditions, weekly work schedule, equipment used, and tasks performed. This part could end by reflecting on what kind of skills the intern acquired.

During this entire tenure of my long- term internship programme. I used to attend my concerned VD Nagulapalli from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM on regular basis and got week off on every sunday.

During this time of working hour I used to take part in every case presented to the hospital and also attended cases in field.

As per the cases attended equipment used and tasks performed vary from one another some of them include sterilizer, liquid nitrogen container, Artificial insemination gun, AI sheaths, syringes of various sizes, needles, glass slides, petridishes, volumetric flasks, mobs and poshles, surgical instruments, Burdizzo castrator, ear tagging machine rope for restraining of animals, vaccine carriers, refrigerator, A.I gloves, disposable gloves and brews etc..

As a part of visit to ABC programme, I have seen various surgical instruments like Artery forceps, towel clips, BP blade, BP handle, tissue forceps, scissor, suturing needles, needles holder drapes etc, and other like Anaesthetic drugs used, sedatives, suture materials, antibiotics etc.

Also come across various machinary used in feed mixing plant.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION IN LARGE RUMINANTS

Artificial insemination is the technique in which semen with living sperms is collected from male and into the female reproductive tract at proper time with the help of instruments. This has been found to result in a normal offspring. In this process, the semen is inseminated into the female by placing a portion of it either in a collected or diluted form into the cervix or uterus by mechanical methods at the proper time and under most hygienic condition.

Artificial insemination is not merely a novel method of bringing about impregnation in female Instead it is a powerful tool mostly employed for livestock improvement. In artificial insemination the germ plasm of the bulls of superior quality can be effectively utilized with the least regard to their location in far away places.

The AI gun loaded with semen straw is passed through the vulva to vagina and cervix and observed with the hand in rectum that the A.I gun reaches the cervix. Then the semen is deposited by unjecting the gun, and after depositing the semen, the gun gun is removed the empty straw and sheath are discarded.

PREGNANCY DIAGNOSIS:

Efficient livestock production requires accurate, early pregnancy detection. So pregnancy diagnosis is a common procedure on most dairy farms.

A wide variety of methods have been used and each has its own advantages and disadvantages.

failure to return to heat is commonly used as a cheap and simple method of pregnancy diagnosis which does not require veterinary involvement. Detection of non-return to oestrus is an essential part of any fertility management plan. If cows fail to get pregnant, then

By adoption of artificial insemination. There would be considerable reduction in both genital and non-genital diseases in the farm stock.

RECTO VAGINAL METHOD:

In cattle the stage and best method of insemination is "Recto-vaginal method" of insemination (cow which is in heat is well controlled placing it in a crush.

Inseminator will get ready by wearing a plastic apron, gumboots and gloves

The semen straw after thawing (keeping the semen straw in warm water for a minute to convert the frozen semen into liquid and the sperms become motile) is loaded in a sterilized AI gun covered with a plastic sheath.

The inseminator will insert the gloved left hand into the rectum after applying the soft soap or lubricant on the glove and flack racket the animals and the hand is further inserted and with catch hold the cervix through rectal wall.

detecting their next heat will ensure that they get a chance to become pregnant as soon as possible i.e., non-pregnant cows will be identified at an early stage and can be mated / perform AI without delay

TRANSRECTAL EXAMINATION

The absence of suitable alternatives means that their method of pregnancy diagnosis remains by far the most common method, excluding non-detection of oestrus.

The two methods of transrectal examination, rectal palpation and ultrasound, both detect the same structures fetus, fluids and fetal membranes. each has their own advantages. Rectal palpation does not require expensive equipment or a power supply. It has significant advantages in time for small number of cows and for very late pregnancies ultrasound requires expensive equipment, but is quicker for large numbers of cow and calves can be more accurately. particularly in the early stages and can also be sexed from 55 days onwards. In an experienced veterinarian, there will be little difference in accuracy between pregnancy diagnosis by palpation and by ultra sound, with > 95% of empty and pregnant cows being identified correctly.

Transrectal examination can be undertaken from around 20 days after insemination, but accuracy is very much lower at this stage, and the time taken per now much higher than examination taken after 30+ days. so the standard time for examination is around 35 days.

It is important to remember the pregnancy diagnosis is not just diagnosing pregnancy. Transrectal examination does not just provide a yes or no as to pregnancy status. firstly measurement of the fetus can provide accurate age measurement which can be useful to check that AI records are accurate or for confirming the dates of natural service. This can be valuable particularly when assessing herd fertility when the more information you have available the better. secondly the main aim of diagnosis is to identify those cows which are not pregnant. It is treatment of these cows which justifies under taking pregnancy diagnosis. so any delay in treating such cases or in identifying the cause of the non-pregnancy is lose in come. In this ways to use a professional who can evaluate and treat non. pregnant cattle, not just someone who can identify pregnancy

Objective of the Activity Done:

Detailed Report:

During this entire week I have attended different field visits which include ZOO, ABC program, visakha dairy training institute and feed mixing plant. on 4th July I have attended my relative hospital and performed artificial insemination and also treated cases like simple indigestion and skin infection on 5th July I have visited Indira Gandi zoological park which is located in visakhapatnam, A.P and it's the 3rd largest ZOO in india. The ZOO is spread over in an area of 625 acres with 850 animals that include 75 species.

This ZOO is commited to conservation and sustainability & has a long term vision for ex-situ conservation. The ZOO has several native mammals such as indian elephants, greater than Rhino, Bengal tingers, Indian leopards etc.

exotic mammals like hippos, Giraffes, Zebras & chimpanzees are also maintained in this ZOO.

This zoo is a home of variety of birds including ostriches, Rosy pelicons, Indian pea fowl different varieties of parrots and various nocturnal birds.

All three native species of crocodiles, snakes, lizards are also house in this zoo. while observing all the captive animals I have made a note of habitat, breeding season, life span & diet of the animals.

on 6th July. I have visited the animal birth control programme (ABC) which is being conducted by the Greater visakha municipal corporation (GVMC).

GVMC has decided to conduct this ABC programme to sterilise street dogs on a massive scale. The city, visakhapatnam has approximately 1 lakh street dogs and of them nearly 70,000 dogs. has been operated under this ABC programme.

The ABC programme aim to catch street dogs. surgically sterilize and vaccinate the dogs against Rabies and release them back to the exact location from where they come.

The surgical procedures adopted to sterilize the dogs include ovario-hysterectomy in case of females and castration in case of male dogs.

After attending the ABC programme, I have visited visakha dairy training centre when I have learned the preparation of silage, silage is the fodder.

which is conserved by reducing by PH through natural anaerobic fermentation. The suitable crops for silage making are Sorghum, super napier, maize etc..

During scarcity period feeding of silage acts as a green fodder and maintains livestock productivity. I have also learnt about long term storing of bulls semen in liquid nitrogen which is maintained at -196°C.

On 8th July, I have visited Rajkamal poultry and cattle feed mixing and manufacturing plant which is located at Anakapalli district.

I have learnt about various feed ingredients which are used as cattle feed. The plant manufactures two types of cattle feed which includes.

1. Concentrate feed
2. Mineral mixture.

The moisture content of the feed ingredients below 12%. A maximum of 3% fat is maintained in feed.

All the feed ingredients are measured and placed in a vertical mixer for complete mixing of the feed ingradents. They are then stored and packaged according to weight.

CHAPTER 5: OUTCOMES DESCRIPTION

Describe the work environment you have experienced (in terms of people interactions, facilities available and maintenance, clarity of job roles, protocols, procedures, processes, discipline, time management, harmonious relationships, socialization, mutual support and teamwork, motivation, space and ventilation, etc.)

During this long term internship I was under the guidance of DR. PADMAJA VAS of Nagulapalli who was very loyal in nature and taught me how to handle different cases and also guided me throughout my tenure and gave me good opportunity for hands on experience in attaining various technical skills like per-rectal palpation, loading of A.I gun, Intramuscular, intravenous, subcutaneous injections and handling of LN_2 containers.

made me aware of things to be done and not to be done while attending a case and precautions to be taken care so that we have good communication & harmonious relationships with farmers and also other staff members working in dispensary

while working as team with other staff members from dispensary I have learnt how to coordinate with others and communicate so that numbers of cases can be attended timely and have come more time where we can also attend field cases so that no animal is said to be left suffering for prolonged time and service has always been a moto especially people working in animal husbandry.

Timely updating registers was also one of the main JOB role so that follow-up of the case can be readily available for future purpose.

Describe the real time technical skills you have acquired (in terms of the job-related skills and hands on experience)

This long-term internship of mine was faithfull in acquiring knowledge both theoritically and practically some of the important skills which I have acquired during this period as how to handle and restrain animals for various purposes, performing intravenous, intramuscular and subcutaneous injections handling and maintainence of LN_2 containers, vaccination of animals both large ruminants and small animals. loading of A.I gun, per rectal palpation of uterine tract in large ruminants, administering of uterine large etc.,

Also learn't handling of a dystochia case in large ruminants.

Above all these maintainence and updating various records and registers at veterinary dispensary and also usage of "PASUSAMRAKSHAK" application

LOADING OF AI GUN (FRENCH STRAW).

Types of semen straws:

The frozen semen are stored in different Types of straws They are:

* french medium straw (0.5 ml)
* french mini straw (0.25 ml)
* German mini tube (0.25 ml)

Thawing french semen straw

Lift the neck plug of the LN_2 container

Pre-cool the forceps in the liquid nitrogen vapour for 5-10 seconds.

Lift the canister from the neck and move it to its opposite edge. Now the body of the canister will come to centre

Lift the canister to the level of neck Identify and lift the straw by forceps the whole operation of lifting the canister and removal of straw should be done as fast as An appropriate insemination gun for respective semen straws or use universal gun to load the straws by gently tapping the straws freeing the air spaces near to laboratory seal.

Place the straw in the chamber of the insemination gun while placing the fourth

If the straw is having cracks or broken or defective seals the straw should be discarded while thawing the semen straw should be completely submerged in water

The thawing water should be fresh and clean the container used to hold the thawing water should also be clean.

Thaw the semen straw either in horizontal & vertical manner

After the thawing, remove the straw and wipe with cotton to remove all the water on the surface of the straw.

The sheath should be fixed with the suction of the inseminating gun.

In universal A.I gun autolock is available which will hold the sheath firmly

After placing the sheath, do not touch the tip of the sheath. handle only the base of the sheath.

The post thaw survival of spermatozoa is poor.

seal should go down and the laboratory seal should come up cut the air space area of the straw by keeping the straw in upright position.

while cutting it should not be cut too close to the semen or should not be cut at angles which will lead to back flow of the semen or wastage of the semen at the time of insemination.

fit the sterile sheath over the sheath straw and the chamber of the inseminating gun obtain perfect fit between extremity of the straw and the cone of the sheath possible within 5-10 seconds. otherwise immerse the canister into the liquid nitrogen

Immediately after removing the semen straw give a jerk to remove the liquid nitrogen on the straw and also to avoid popping of the seal.

PER- RECTAL PALPATION

* per- rectal palpation is most conventional, cost effective - accurate and practical method of examinations for the following conditions

* Diagnosis of pregnancy, estimation of gestational age of the conceptus and characterization of physiological pathological reproductive status. Assessment of current reproductive status & to predict important reproductive events to come such as estrus, ovulation parturition or abortion. Rational approach to therapy and for establishing a prognosis for conditions of uterus, fallopian tube ovaries and supporting structure principles of per- rectal examination:

* Animal should be properly restrained by putting in a crush if not available restrain against wall

* The fingers nails are closely trimmed and tips are smoothed

* Good lubrication of gloved hand with glycerin- and soap (carbolic soap, washing soaps should be avoided such cause more irritation.

* Ballooned rectal wall will result in greather diameter of rectal wall due to stretching. so it will be difficult to group of genitalia. It can be made to overcome easily by

* Tapping repeatedly the dorsal wall of rectum. The part below the sacrum from anterior to posterior direction will leads to expulsion of air by peristalsis due to reflex stimulation. Insert the hand forward and 1st peristalic ring is gently grasped and pulled backwards cold water enema.

* If rectum is dry - cold water enema is advised. Inspite of gentle handling of rectal wall and genitalia too much force from finger on rectal wall to cause bleeding and occasionally the rectal wall may tear.

PRECAUTIONS:

* The examine has to stand by the side of the animal.

* cervix is recongnized as a firm cylindrical and some what nodular structure lying on the middle of pelvic floor

* In non pregnant / early pregnant cows the cervix is mostly located in middline of pelvic cavity with whole uterus with in pelvic cavity.
* In non-pregnant buffalo, it is more posterior in location.
* In exotic & old animals & in pregnant animals the cervix may be located over the pelvic brim.

position / location of cervix:

* In non-pregnant & early pregnant mostly within pelvic cavity.
* A full urinary bladder may displace it sideways
* In older animals and in certain exotic breeds may be at pelvic brim or abdomen
* Late pregnancy - over pelvic brim or abdominal side of the animal other wise air is expelled along with the dung it is sprayed on the clothes of the examiner or on the faces of persons behind the animal.
* The hand should not be rotated while introduced into rectum cervix is the landmark for all rectal examination of bovine female genetalia because of its distinct characteristics and relatively constant position

LOCATION AND EXAMINATION OF CERVIX:

* The arm is inserted far enough to palpate the pelvic inlet. The hand with the fingers slightly bent in sweep along one of the walls of the pelvic cavity down to the floor and over to the other side. If cervix is not located in the 1st sweep, the process is repeated at different depths until is in found.

EXAMINATION OF THE UTERUS:

* Always one uterine horn is palpated from base to its tip and palpated back in the same reverse direction, then the opposite horn is palpated from its base to the tip & palpation is continued in reverse direction

HOW TO PALPATE THE UTERUS:

* passing the fingers into dorsal inter-costual ligament & palpating the uterus by lifting one of the horn and then the other horn is now an out dated method as it can cause rupture at intercornual ligament. here the hand is passed flase at the entrance of the pelvic and down into abdominal cavity and hand is half cinched and is with drawn it in their position as for the pelvic brim.

* this scooping of uterus can be done with non-pregnant & early pregnant uterus, or the hand is passed suddenly under the cervix so the uterus is palpated dorsally.

including horns by inserting fingers and thumb around each horn of hand and fingers are passed around the horn along with the broad ligament folded back and horn is examined from its base to tip we has to be made for the size symmetry of horns, shape or tubularity consistency done or contractically and presence of any contents.

Describe the managerial skills you have acquired (in terms of planning, leadership, team work, behaviour, workmanship, productive use of time, weekly improvement in competencies, goal setting, decision making, performance analysis, etc.

while attending veterinary dispensary on regular basis for a period of 3 months as per guidelines and timings and working together collectively for attending different cases. I have learnt how to communicate with farmers. how to behave in a polite manner without any hurry. so that he/she can answer for the questions we put to him while collecting case history in order arrive at a tentative diagnosis sometimes when more number of cases were presented at the same time then priority of the cases based on intensity of the animal condition to be decided & taken decision was the almost important thing which I have learnt during this entire period.

initially I was asked to observe different cases presented to the veterinary dispensary and were explained in detailed by VAs as soon as the case was dispensed and later on slowly I got especially in case of per. rectal palpation week by week I have tried to practice palpation of uterine tract step by step and finally I got well versed in palpation of cervix and uterus so that I can now find out if the animal is in estrus or not so that Artificial Insemination can be done or not can be decided or breaking the animal if there are other conditions.

Describe how you could improve your communication skills (in terms of improvement in oral communication, written communication, conversational abilities, confidence levels while communicating, anxiety management, understanding others, getting understood by others, extempore speech, ability to articulate the key points, closing the conversation, maintaining niceties and protocols, greeting, thanking and appreciating others, etc.,)

Communication skills are very essential in the field conditions as it improves and help to build connection with the farmers or the owners of the animals. It also helps us to enchance our professional image written communication is one of the traditional aspect which helps in conveying information clearly. So, I would try to give a written note of important schedules to be followed to an animal such as vaccination and deworming protocols.

Verbal communication is one of the most important aspect of diagnosis of a disease in field conditions. Diplomatic questioning & actively listening when the farmer is talking helps us to properly diagnose the condition of the animal while speaking making an eye contact and using natural hand shows our confidence levels while communicating asking follow up questions and then recaping the conversation helps in getting better understanding by others.

One of the best way to improve the communication is to work on creating clear conversations that are error free put away anything that can distract us such as phones. this shows the other person that we are respectfully, listening and responding to their conversation, Greeting, thanking and appreciating the person before or after the start of conversation helps us in gaining the person's attention and involvement in conversation

Describe how could you could enhance your abilities in group discussions, participation in teams, contribution as a team member, leading a team/activity.

I firstly consider myself sociable and communicative person. so, while participating in group discussion. I will make sure to analyze the complete topic before the discussion starts. I would like the initiate the discussion and allow others for more interactions and the discussion and allow others for more interactions and opinions. I will be a good listener and also focus on points that others discussion which increase my knowledge on the topic and helps to strengthen my points. To lead the team in right path, I will note down important points that are put by others of the group so that I can use these later in discussion. I will always stick to the truth during a defeat so as to succeed in the discussion. As a team leader. I will appreciate others for their various and similarly. when I do not agree on a point,

I will wait for the person to finish and then raise my objection.

I will aim is not to stretch the discussion for a longer time but to reach a common destination.

Describe the technological developments you have observed and relevant to the subject area of training (focus on digital technologies relevant to your job role)

During my period of training of Nagulapalli VD, I have observed that VAs of my training center were using a mobile application called "PASU SAMRAKSHAK" which was developed by the animal husbandry department government of Andhra pradesh in the year 2020. This application had free access for all the AHA, VAs and sachivalayam staff

In this application information regarding number of animals vaccinated, dewormed and inseminated cloud in stomach, first aid cases treated livestock claims, calves born and users of fodder provided to animals are to be uploaded on regular basis by AHA.

During my training period, there was an outbreak of Rabies disease in cattle at Nagulapalli village so, I have already participated in the mass vaccination programme and have uploaded the number of vaccinations conducted everyday in this applications.

One of the main motto for developing this application comes from INAPH which is a 12 digit unique ID number ear tag for animal registration this helps us to keep a record of all events of the animal such as vaccination, insemination, treatment against a disease etc., this registration ID also plays a major during claiming of insurance after the death of the animal.
